Notes on J C (James Cephas) Poe:

I have Joe Columbus Poe's birth certificate signed by James C. Poe

"The Poe Story" lists his name as Cephas. I believe this was his nickname.

Cephas was a farmer and a minister. He pastored several churches in the surrounding area. He was an ordained minister of the Assembly of God Church, in the District of Arkansas. He later became a produce dealer at a curb market in Russellville, Arkansas. He would go to the orchards and get fresh fruit. It was close to one of these orchards that he had a heart attack and died. His truck had been seen by several people of the area during the morning but there was a man that dranked quite a bit that had a truck like Cephas, and the people thought that this truck was that mans, and didn't check on it to see if anything was wrong, until much later in the day. It is believed that Cephas died instantly tho. Cephas and Ada are the parents of six children. Four daughters and two sons.

Notes on Joe Columbus Poe:

Even though my grandfather always went by this name, it seems his birth certificate says otherwise. His name is listed as Clombus Joe Poe (Columbus being misspelled).
