

Life Blood Save Brother

50. 1918

With the hope of saving his brother's life, Mr. John Thomas Cobb, former Bremen boy, but now in the service of Uncle Sam, has gone to Birmingham to permit doctors to transfuse his blood into the veins of Mr. Ollie Gobb, of Jasper, Ala., who is in low health. Doctors said there was a hope for the latter by such an operation and John Thomas went there as early as possible after receiving a telegram stating what was desired. It is hoped that the operation will prove successful and be the means of restoring Ollie to his health.
